

Neither Safe Nor Effective

The drug review process protects Canadians by requiring pharmaceutical companies to provide objective evidence to answers three questions:

Is it safe? Does it work?

Should we use it?

During Covid-19, the Minister of Health used the power within the Act to override normal drug approval processes.

All three questions were ignored.

This is still in effect, to this day...

